

CO | PRODUCED
RE | LIGIONS

JANUARY
18

11AM-1PM
US EST TIME

Interactive Webinar

The Journal of Interreligious Studies and Co-Produced Religions, co-sponsored by the Institute for Advanced Study (Princeton, USA) and the University of Bern (Switzerland), are hosting a webinar with experts from history, religion, and theology.

Register here: <http://tinyurl.com/jirscoweb>

Keynote: "Religious Co-production and its Potentials for History and Theology"

Katharina Heyden, Professor for History of Christianity and Interreligious Encounters
University of Bern

David Nirenberg, Director and Leon Levy Professor Institute for Advanced Study Princeton

Co-Produced Religions seeks to provide the foundations of a new history of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam as co-produced communities, a history that makes clear the many different ideas and ideals that each of these communities has formed, and continues to form, by interacting with or imagining the others.

The keynote will be followed by historical case studies of co-production from the ongoing research project. Following these two portions, the webinar will turn to theological responses and reactions, breakout sessions, and a Q&A.

Panelists presenting historical case studies: Maureen Attali, Jillian Stinchcomb, David Gyllenhaal, and Shlomo Zuckier

Jewish, Muslim, and Christian Responses: Rachel Slutsky, Adam Gregerman, Lailatul Fitriyah, Mohammed Gamal, Marianne Moyaert, and Klaus von Stosch.